Key to understanding High Level Behaviour issues is the planned, purposeful and deliberate way the student behaves having received repeated behaviour interventions as outlined.

Stage 1: is issued to a student by means of a formal reprimand by the class teacher for consistent and persistent breaches of the COD which impact negatively upon the teaching and learning process. This stage is time limited and will be removed upon review if behaviour improves. Parents are informed in writing that a Stage 1 has been issued. Detention but not suspension should be considered at this stage.

Stage 2: is issued by the Year Head having spoken to the student at length with regard to his/her negative behaviour. Time limited and again parents informed in writing. Short suspension may be considered at this stage along with other punishments.

Stage 3: is issued by the Principal who calls a meeting with parents and the schools disciplinary team (Year Head, Deputy Principal and Home/School/Liaison Officer. Extended suspension may be considered at this stage. Upon re-entry into school parents and student sign a Contract of Behaviour

Stage 4: is issued by the Principal. The Principal informs EWO and an Educational Welfare Conference is called to address all aspects of the students continuing poor behaviour which are beginning to threaten the students place in the school. Plans and supports are put in place to assist student, school and family. Suspension should be until EWC can be held.

Stage 5: is issued by the Principal. The Parents are invited to meet the Board of Management's sub-committee on student discipline. Gravity of the situation is outlined clearly to student and his/her family.

Stage 6: is issued by the Principal. Final meeting with Principal, EWO, student and family is held and last warning is issued to the student. Extended suspension may be considered here but should be aimed at ensuring child receives support for behaviour (e.g. School referral to Child Psychology Services).

Stage 7: The Principal is now obliged to recommend permanent exclusion. The student is suspended until full Board of Management meeting is held to consider the case.
